

Spain's 2020 aerosol production remained steady

A sociación Española de Aerosoles (Spanish Aerosol Association or AEDA) released Spain's aerosol production statistics for 2020. Production was down 1.16% to 325 million units in 2020, compared to 328.8 million units in 2019, AEDA reported. Category results reflected the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic.

"The pandemic has affected categories differently, spurring growth in cleaning and disinfection products to the detriment of personal care products." However, AEDA/Lant Abogados remained optimistic about 2020 results.

"The result points towards an overall market volume that... has remained quite stable overall although with a slight decrease." SPRAY

"The information received this year has been very conditioned by the pandemic," said Lant Abogados, the firm that conducted research on behalf of AEDA.

Launched in 2020, Actoner's Tulipán Negro (Black Tulip) 400mL aerosol sanitizer contains 70% alcohol to kill germs on surfaces.
